COUGARS DEFEAT JACKSON

Tigers "Tamed" 14-6 BUILDING FAIR EXHIBITS STARTS

IT TOOK TWO TIGERS to bring Buhlert down when the Cougar half-back ripped off eight yards to carry the ball to the Jackson 25-yard line in the third quarter of their battle Saturday.

"HOLD 'EM TIGERS" yelled the Jackson rooters, and the Tigers tried to "hold 'em," but here's Buhlert again after a 7-yard gain through the Jackson line with interference by Boggs and Gardner in the second quarter.

TWO GOOD REASONS why the Tigers were "Tamed" are shown here with Singleton and Tatum, Cougar tackles, crashing through to try to block a Jackson punt in the fourth quarter.

POLICE VULNERABLE

SLYRIA, O., (U)—Police cruiser cars are as vulnerable as private automobiles, it seems. Service Director I. D.

Faxon ordered the city's three police cars into a garage to have their fenders hammered out, after complaints from Mayor Leonard Smith about their battered appearance.

BUHLERT STAR IN VICTORY

Brown Points Warriors Toward Game Saturday At Sutter Creek

A powerful Cougar forward wall, literally ripping the Jackson line to pieces, tearing wide holes in the opposition defense, paved the way for the hard-hitting El Dorado backfield men to pile up yard after yard as the Cougars opened their Mother Lode League schedule Saturday by running roughshod over the Jackson Tigers, 14 to 6.

The game, on the home field, proved the Cougars to be a well-balanced football machine, and this week Coach L. A. Brown has his charges under intensive drilling in preparation for their game at Sutter Creek Saturday in another C. I. F. contest.

The score was 14 to 6, but the Cougars were a far superior team than the one touchdown win indicates. Three other times during the afternoon's play the local pigskin pushers were within striking distance of the goal. (Continued on Page 3)

Board Defers Naming Warden

SACRAMENTO, (U)—William J. Ryan, captain of the guard at Folsom prison, today appeared the candidate most likely to succeed the late Clarence A. Larkin as warden.

Following a week-end meeting of the state board of prison directors, it was said, however, no action would be taken until the board's next regular meeting Nov. 6 at San Quentin.

He said Ryan now is favored by a majority of the board. The veteran prison official is recovering from knife wounds suffered in the rioting last month.

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN TO MEET TUESDAY AT GEORGETOWN

Arrangements are reported complete for the quarterly meeting of the Placer-El Dorado Volunteer Firemen's Association which will be held Tuesday evening, at Georgetown.

Bart Arundel, of Placerville, president of the association, reports that the Georgetown Volunteer Fire Department will be hosts for the occasion and its members have promised a buck stew.

Leaders in fire prevention work will be dinner speakers, among them representatives of the Board of Fire Underwriters of the Pacific, and of state and federal forestry departments.

"Deac" Lundley is chairman of the committee on arrangements, and that is about all that need be said.

E. E. Juckes was in town from Hank's Exchange on Monday.

Holland Bulb Advertisement Is Claimed "Fraudulent"

The Republican is grateful to Max Baer for his information Monday afternoon that a letter addressed to a concern advertising Holland bulbs in The Republican has been returned with this notation:

"Fraudulent—Mail to this address returned by order of Postmaster General."

The letter was addressed by Mr. Baer to Frank Van Borselen, Heemstede, Holland, in answer to an advertisement inserted in The Republican by an advertising agency in Amsterdam, Holland.

We advise our readers to refrain

GREAT INTEREST IN DISPLAYS SHOWN

Poultry Show Added In Answer To Requests Of County Ranchers

With building of the apple and pear displays for the El Dorado County Fair, which will be held November 5, 6 and 7 at Marcus P. Bennett, Jr., Memorial Park, all ready under way, the fair officials report widespread interest throughout the county in all exhibits.

Although the number of exhibits which the exposition will present cannot be definitely given at this time, George E. Faugsted, chairman of the directorate, declared Monday morning that the fair has met with an enthusiastic reception throughout the county and a large number of exhibits will be (Continued on Page 4)

SCOUT CAMPAIGN OVER $600

Chairman Palmer Expects To Wind Up Annual Drive And Make Final Report Tuesday

El Dorado County's annual campaign for financial support for Boy Scout activities has raised more than $600, it was announced Monday morning by John H. Palmer, chairman of the campaign.

"We actually have collected or have definitely pledged a total of $625," Palmer announced.

"In addition, there are some workers who have not reported and it seems reasonable to predict, in view of this, that the campaign this year will raise a total of approximately $700. We are making every effort to contact all workers today and expect to have a complete and final report to make on Tuesday."

DE MOLAY BOYS MEET AT BAY

Secretary General Of Grand Council At San Francisco For Brief Visit

The regular meeting of El Dorado Chapter, Order of DeMolay, which ordinarily would be held tonight, has been postponed until Friday evening, October 22.

Occasion for the postponement is the visit at San Francisco this evening of Frank S. Land, secretary general of the Grand Council, Order of DeMolay, of Kansas City, in whose honor a reception will be held tonight at the Scottish Rite Temple, at San Francisco.

Members of the Order of DeMolay from all sections of the northern part of the state will attend and the delegation from El Dorado County is led by Edward Sayers, divisional master councilor.

In addition to Sayers, the following members of El Dorado Chapter are attending the meeting: Jack Rupley, master councilor; Arthur Hackwood, senior councilor; Edwin Scheiber, senior deacon; Howard Chaix, senior stward; and Harold Duden, scribe-treasurer.

Fear For 19 In Airliner

SALT LAKE CITY, (U)—United Airlines announced today a searching plane had sighted from the air a missing transcontinental airliner overdue here since 8:42 last night with 19 persons aboard. Fate of these persons—16 passengers and three crew—was undetermined. The airliner, one of the company's largest, was en route from New York to San Francisco.

Robert Bergeson, pilot of the searching plane, an dhis co-pilot, William Williams, radioed they located the airliner down near Chalk Peak, Utah, in rugged, mountainous country 10 miles west of the Utah-Wyoming border and 50 miles east of Salt Lake City. They indicated it would take hours before the grounded craft could be reached by horseback.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETS TONIGHT AT PACIFIC HOUSE

The regular October meeting of the County Chamber of Commerce will be held tonight at Pacific House, instituting a series of out-of-town meetings of the organization.

The meeting will convene at dinner, and is scheduled for eight o'clock. Chamber officers reported a total of about thirty dinner reservations.

The meeting will be devoted chiefly to winter sports plans and members of the Placerville Ski Club will report on their work and their hopes for the coming season. Several reels of winter sports motion pictures also will be shown.

Ranger Berriman's Car Stolen On Saturday

The personal machine of Forest Ranger and Mrs. R. C. M. Berriman, of Georgetown, was stolen Sunday in Grass Valley, according to word received Monday morning at Eldorado Forest headquarters.

Ranger Berriman was visiting at the hospital with his brother, who is a patient there, and the car was missing when he returned to the street. The theft was reported to Grass Valley officers and the Nevada County highway patrol.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gardella are reported to be in the Bay District, on vacation.

Drinking Motorist Surrenders To Highway Patrol Captain

Stockton Man Fined $50 Monday Morning In Justice Court Following His Arrest Sunday Evening When He Stopped To Put Officer "On The Carpet"

Francis Beebrock, of Stockton, was found guilty before Justice of the Peace T. F. Lewis Monday morning on a charge of reckless driving with evidence of having been drinking, and was fined $50.

Beebrock was taken into custody Sunday evening by Traffic Captain E. A. Brewster, when he "surrendered" after Brewster had failed to find him in an eighteen-mile drive along the Pony Express Route.

Junior Traffic Squad To Get Caps

Placerville's Junior Traffic Patrol is going to get new caps, at the suggestion of Mayor George E. Faugsted.

Members of the patrol daily guard the pupils of the grammar school as they cross main arteries of travel going to and from school.

In addition to new caps, the patrol members are also to have some new "stop" signs, for their use in traffic regulation.

Buck Stew Held Saturday By Lodge At El Dorado

Following the regular meeting of Hiram Lodge, No. 43, F. & A. M., at El Dorado, on Saturday night, members of the lodge and visiting lodge brothers enjoyed a buck stew.

Business of the lodge meeting included conferring the third degree upon Kenneth W. McCoy, of Shingle Springs, and the distribution of aprons of the Craft to the members of Hiram Lodge.

Brewster immediately started out to meet the suspected offender, driving toward Placerville from Riverton. Although he scanned the oncoming line of traffic diligently, Brewster missed his suspect and he stopped near the Five-Mile House and pulled to the side of the road on the chance that he might yet find the suspected drunken driver.

Presently, up drove Mr. Beebrock, coming down the road from the direction of Camino.

Beebrock demanded Brewster's name and his highway patrol number, according to Brewster.

The officer supplied the information requested and learned that Beebrock intended to complain to state officials against the officer.

Brewster said he noticed the man's breath was "pretty strong" and so, after all of the desired information had been supplied, he insisted on Beebrock accompanying him to Placerville.

A doctor's examination failed to pronounce the man drunk and he was charged with reckless driving with evidence of having been drinking and found guilty before Justice of the Peace T. F. Lewis. The fine was $50.

There were two minor wrecks over the week-end, both being on Saturday night.

Cars driven by Addie Marchini, C. R. Richerson, of Oakland, and Irving Adams, of Roseville, figured in a three-car mix-up near Greenstone. Richerson was blamed for the wreck and, it is said will be charged with reckless driving. Mrs. Marchini and Mr. Adams were cut but are said not to have been seriously hurt.

In a second wreck Saturday evening, cars driven by William Rogers and Walter Drysdale came together on the Georgetown road three miles north of Poor's Store.

Rogers suffered minor cuts.

The highway patrol reports an investigation is being made but that whether charges will be brought against Rogers has not been determined.

George Pontious was representing the Coloma business men in the county seat early Monday.

NEW YORK, (UP) — New plays by Maxwell Anderson and Ben Hecht give much-needed impetus to a theatrical season which started with about as much verve as a rusty robot. The drama is stepping out in long trousers again.

"The Star-Wagon" is the new Anderson play and it brings together again the combination of playwright, producer-director and star actor—Anderson, Guthrie McClintic and Burgess Meredith—which was responsible in the last two seasons for "Winterset" and "High Tor," winners of the Critics' Circle's best-play-of-the-season awards. It continues to be a fruitful collaboration even if the current product does not quite measure up to the predecessors.

Anderson resorts to the familiar practice of making time do tricks in getting across the message that however dissatisfied we may be with the patterns of our lives have followed, we probably wouldn't have been any better off had they taken some other tangent. This business of projecting characters into the future or dropping them back into the past is an old standby of those who write novels and plays and I can't say that Anderson has brought anything new to it, if, indeed, it is possible for anyone to introduce any fancy innovations along this line. However, he does handle the matter in smooth fashion and has created a set of ingratiating characters bound to find a warm place in the hearts of the theatregoers everywhere.

Hecht is a welcome prodigal. He has labored long and fruitfully in the film field and he has a lot of things to get off his chest in "To Quito and Back," a play on the class struggle theme. It is an extremely uneven drama, capable of a cheap trick now and then, but there is beauty in it, too, and some dialogue worth hearing.

It is over-long even for all the things Hecht has to say, but by this, I do not mean to fall into the errors of others who complain that it is too "talky." Shorten it 30 or 45 minutes and it still would be a "talky" play, but I refuse to hold that against this or any other drama as the sole basis for disapproval. If the talk be good, and much of that in "Quito" is, a play blessed by such is worth a dozen which bristle with comings and goings and continuous alarms. I would say that Philip Moeller, a meticulous director usually, has not done his best at staging this play, which could stand considerable more directorial tightening than it has received. This may possibly be the fault of Hecht, who, as an eminent author, undoubtedly had something to say about the manner in which his work was staged.

Whatever its faults, the fact remains that "Quito" is a challenging drama, which some will like intensely and others consider a bore. I found it engrossing more often than not.

By JANE VOILES

Dr. Victor Heiser makes his lecture very informal, rambling on in his deep pleasant voice and emphasizing his remarks by means of the three expressive wrinkles across his forehead. He is as bald as an egg. Apropos of his baldness he tells a story. While he was in the Philippine Islands his big problem was the improvement of the water supply. He thought he had the problem solved when artesian wells were dug but the Filipinos who are a superstitious people looked upon the wells as a sacrilege.

"If the good Lord wanted water in a certain place, he would have put it there," they insisted.

Then the rumor started that if anyone drank well water, their hair would fall out and the Filipinos are very proud of their hair.

"If you don't believe it," they argued, "go down and look at that American Dr. Heiser who drinks well water."

It was a piece of luck that the work of the health office was not in vain. One day a sick man drank water from a well. He was so refreshed that at once, he declared that his health had been restored. Behold a miracle. The people came for miles to drink while the fame of the artesian wells spread like wildfire. At the next meeting of the legislature, the sum of $300,000 was voted for the installation of wells.

"Improve the water supply," Dr. Heiser asserts, "and you lower the death rate."

Dr. Heiser takes his audience on a trip around the world very much as he takes his readers in his book "An American Doctor's Odyssey." He tells how in the South Seas the Polynesians were rapidly dying out from disease especially tuberculosis. Medical schools with American and European doctors were established and the population began to increase.

"Polynesians are a quick and intelligent people," the doctor said, "with such scant equipment as a kitchen table and a butcher knife they accomplish major operations with success."

China has made great progress in obstetrics. Enterprising women doctors have organized provincial schools so that the death rate from child birth is much lower than it used to be. In Borneo the laborers on the rubber plantations who lived on white rice and dried fish were victims of the dread beri-beri until substitution of unpolished rice for the white practically wiped out the disease.

Malaria was the plague of Malaya until the swamp lands were drained. In the health survey of 1915 Ceylon, one of the richest and most productive islands in the world, showed many cases of hook worm. The Rockefeller Foundation spent large sums to carry on an intensive educational campaign against the herb doctors of the island. Eventually the disease was stamped out.

Japan went in for disinfectants with a vengeance, according to Dr. Heiser. When an ambulance enters the grounds of a tuberculosis hospital, the wheels are made to run in gutters of disinfectant. Attendants follow visitors all over the place spraying them continually.

Dr. Heiser told about a dinner he attended in Japan where he was the guest of honor at the famous Maple Club. He remembered that shoes were not worn in doors and he thought he was properly groomed with a fresh pair of socks. Being a bachelor of long standing, however, he never bothered much about socks except to see that there was no hole above the water line. While he was taken to inspect a rock garden at the Maple Club, he noticed that his big toe was wriggling out of the sock. He hastened in doors where he hoped to hide his feet comfortably under the table but to his dismay he discovered that the guest of honor sat on the floor surrounded by the other guests in a semi-circle. Meanwhile the big toe was growing more and more obstreperous, showing red like the tail light of an automobile. Not even the charming geisha girls who entertained the guests with songs and dances could make him forget it. After that, he paid special attention to socks while he was in Japan.

For the greater part of the last six months Dr. Heiser has been traveling throughout the length of Africa. Although he says nothing of this plan in his lecture, it is known that he is raising money for a fight on leprosy. In Basutoland in Southeastern Africa Dr. Heiser gave physical examinations to 2,000 lepers establishing a leper colony at the request of the British Government.

Sir Hugh Walpole's latest book "John Cornelius" is a mature book. It is the story of an author or rather the story of how a genius develops. It is also the story of friendship. Have you ever stopped to think how few books give to friendship the place it deserves? The Chinese say that of all joys "nothing brings more joy than friendship and the most joyful part of friendship is quiet talk among friends." It isn't so much the talk in "John Cornelius" as it is the protection and understanding that friends give to one another.

If you have read many of Walpole's books, you will remember how many children there are in his book. We have heard some mothers say that Walpole's children are insufferable little brats without any genuine child qualities, while other mothers read about these children with absorbed attention and say "Just like my Bobby or my Tommy." At any rate, John Cornelius is a little boy for a good many pages and sometimes he becomes as trying to one's reading patience as little Johnny next door becomes to our everyday patience.

In his recent books, Walpole has gone in for fourth dimensional experiences, the sort of thing that John Balderstone did so well in "Berkeley Square," some sixth or undeveloped sense in us going back in time and holding or participating in an event that took place many years before our time. This kind of experience is very difficult to write about. In "John Cornelius" Walpole does it skillfully.

Wage Schedule Before Council Today

The City Council will convene at city hall at 4 o'clock this afternoon to adopt a schedule of wages to be paid on the Placerville sewer improvement project.

The session is a continuance of the regular October meeting of the council, which was adjourned to last Friday and was again adjourned until tonight in order legally to keep the meeting open.

Councilmen Hosking and Rober will not be present, the former being on leave and the latter on vacation, so the matter of wages rests with Mayor Faugsted, and Councilmen Frost and Pierson.

Fair Exhibit Work Starts

entered.

"At the request of a great number of county poultry raisers we have created a poultry class for the fair," Faugsted stated.

"The poultry show will be held on Saturday, November 6, for one day only, and exhibitors will be expected to provide their own coops and shelters.

"Classes will be for one rooster, one cockrel, one hen and one pullet, and also for a pen of three hens and a pen of three pullets. These groupings will apply for all breeds."

Faugsted said that Cliff Swesey spent Saturday contacting as many farmers of the county as possible by telephone, and was continuing this work on Monday and was meeting with an almost unanimous enthusiastic response from all farmers contacted.

Willard Wilkinson, fair director in charge of the fruit displays, said Monday that the pear show is virtually complete and that the exhibit is now being laid out by John Winkelman. Through the co-operation of the fruit shipping agencies, virtually every commercial pear grower in the district will be represented, he said.

Wilkinson devoted Monday morning to contacting the apple growers, whose entries also will be turned over to John Winkelman, who will lay out and build the apple display.

L. J. Anderson, secretary-manager, spent Sunday at Marcus P. Bennett, Jr., Memorial Park with Supervisor P. J. Hall and J. G. Leonardi, of the Pacific Gas & Electric Company, laying out plans for electric lights for the exposition. It is planned that the fair grounds will be flood-lighted, and the floodlights will be installed with the thought in mind that they may become a part of the plan to light the park permanently.

Anderson was at Sacramento Monday afternoon going over the tentative premium list with officials of the state Department of Finance. He will return early tonight to meet with the county fair directors.

he pointed to a particular dancer: "You — you Teeter Pitts — rise and shine."

That's all Teeter Pitts needed. And, breaking away from the group Teeter, looking as if he might have just stepped out of Bud Peagler's barbecue stand with Florian Slattery, rose and shone. In five minutes he did more work than all the athletes I've ever seen out together could do. This Lindy hop was a mile in 4 minutes Flat; his Suzy Q a 90-yard run through a broken field; his Charleston five deuced sets, and his buck and wing fifteen full rounds.

In short, it was something, packing more action, in a smoky little room, than than the Giants and Yanks could in a stadium built for 75,000.

A Sacramento paper reports the birth at that city on Sunday of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Swansborough.

Evalan Earle Wed At Capital Sunday

CALIFORNIA LEADS IN RURAL ELECTRIFICATION

Power Use Highest . . . Rates Among Lowest in U. S.

Rural electrification, a new and slowly progressing movement in other states, is an accomplished fact in California.

More than 107,000 California farms now receive electric service. This is a greater number than in any other single state. It is more than in all the six New England states combined.

According to a recent analysis made by the Edison Electric Institute, 93.6 per cent of all California farms on which are dwellings valued at more than $500 have electric service. A test survey by the California Works Authority shows that in six counties in the area served by this Company—Alameda, Fresno, Sacramento, Santa Clara, Sonoma and Stanislaus—87 per cent of all farms, regardless of value of dwellings, are served with electricity. Yet in the entire United States electrification reaches but 17 per cent of the farms.

In 1936 California's consumption of farm power was 54 per cent of the national total.

And California farm rates are among the lowest in the country. This company's average revenue from all farm service in 1936 was only 1.89 cents per kilowatt hour.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company farm rates are designed to encourage the growth of agriculture, the state's basic industry, and to stimulate the upbuilding of rural regions.

POWER... No. 1 Farm Hand

This Company's liberal extension and rate policies have given the farmer electric service at reasonable cost wherever feasible. Result: 25,367 miles—82 per cent—of our distribution lines traverse rural districts.

The California farmer's home has all the conveniences electricity affords—light, heat, cooking, refrigeration, radio.

On his farm Electric Power, his No. 1 worker, saves endless drudgery, irrigates field and orchard, chops feed, hoists heavy loads, milks the cows, separates the cream, operates incubators and brooders, kills insect pests, heats the soil to speed growth. Today it even prevents unseasonable frost, and provides air conditioning winter and summer.
